"Say When" lost 20 miles from Hobart L. Nelson

SEARCH FOR CREW OF LAUNCH

HOBART. — Search is being continued today for traces of three of five members of the crew of the motor launch, Say When, wreckage of which was found in the Bay of Lagoons, near Storm Bay, on the east coast.

Two bodies have been recovered, those of Captain Frank Jelley, who was in charge of the launch, and Vere Downie, a hydro-electric engineer, of Huonville.

Other members of the party were: A. Parker, of Eaglehawk Neck; T. J. Able, of Hobart; and N. D. Daly, of Hobart, formerly of Sydney, manager of Hemingway and Robertson.

The launch reached Swansea, on the east coast, but location of the wreckage suggests that the party was either making its way back to Dunalley or was blown considerably off its course.

Seas on the east coast this week have been the roughest for 40 years.
